

Handout 1: Framing Discussion

- Our group decided that without any rules or laws, the people would _____
_____.
- When I thought about a large group of people living with no laws, I was concerned about _____
_____.
- Personally, I don't think the rules and laws are necessary because _____
_____.
- My group had some great ideas for rules for everyone in the new land to follow. For example, we thought one rule should be _____ and we also thought it would be important for people to be required to _____. These rules are important to us because _____.
- As a group, we felt that _____ because _____.
- We definitely think there would be criminals because _____.
- One way the group of people could create laws would be _____.
- Our group thought it would be important for the people to _____.

Author: Michael Long

Source: <http://teachinghistory.org/teaching-materials/english-language-learners/24139>
